

Teaming Together to Effectively Market Your Community

3D Strategies, Inc. and Commonweal Development have teamed up to provide effective marketing and real estate solutions for communities throughout the Midwest. Working with this new team will elevate your community to the next level in community development.

Our services include:

- Market research and analysis of industrial and commercial property or potential within a community
- Development and implementation of comprehensive marketing plan
- Marketing/Listing commercial and industrial properties and available buildings
- Comprehensive project management services
- Turn key development services from site selection, construction administration to financing and building ownership
- Specializing in the sale and leasing of office, retail, land, industrial and investment property

3D Strategies, Inc. has been providing economic development and marketing services to communities, private businesses and educational institutions since incorporating in 1998. Owners Maureen Carlson and Emily Matchey have more than 30 years of professional marketing and economic development experience.

3D Strategies, Inc., understands the unique challenges of community development projects. They have experience in working with elected officials, community engineers, financial planners, and other real estate professionals in making development projects happen.

Commonweal Development Corporation was established in 1981 to offer comprehensive professional real estate services throughout Western Wisconsin and Eastern Minnesota. Commonweal's services relate to the brokerage, development, and property management of commercial real estate. Commonweal's principals have technical educations and broad experience in commercial real estate. The reputation the company has earned is a result of their thorough and analytical approach to real estate challenges and opportunities.
